And now we see that take it by its horns.

ACHIEVEMENT

We have been given numerous opportunities and options. Teachers have taught us how to face episodes and situations in life. How do we complete these challenges, and face up to them in an intelligent and thoughtful manner.

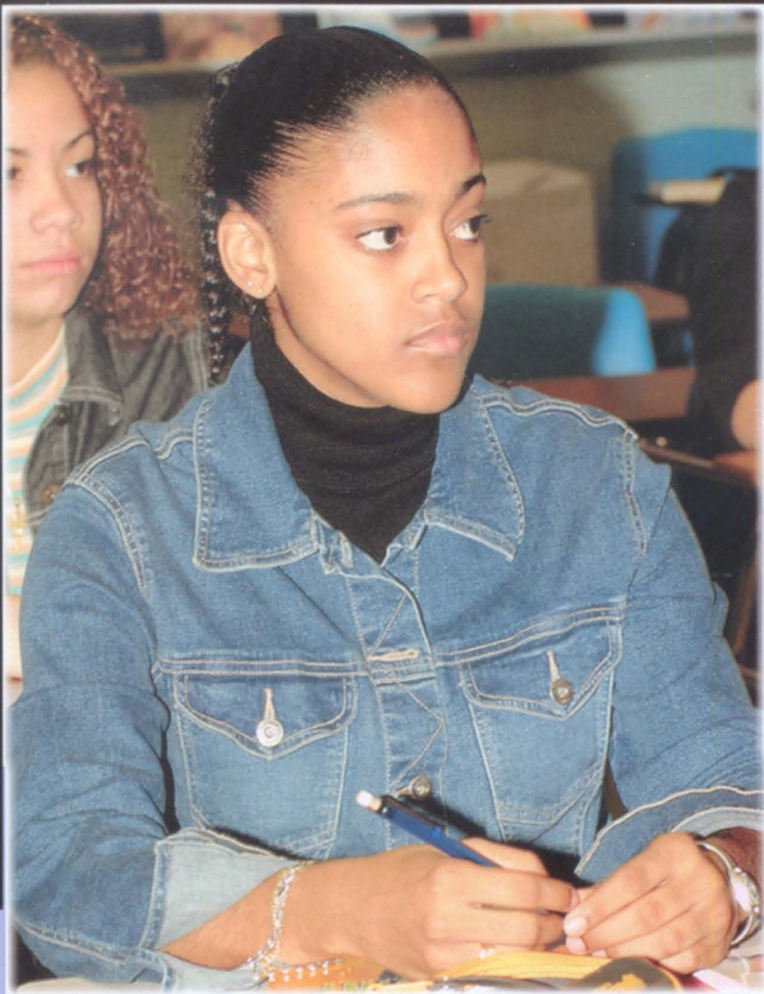

Our elders have taught us the best way to confront people and situations, and they have also taught us how to make the best decisions.

Throughout our numerous excuses, they have always been there to help us and guide us through tough times. They pushed us so we would go the whole way and not just settle for less.

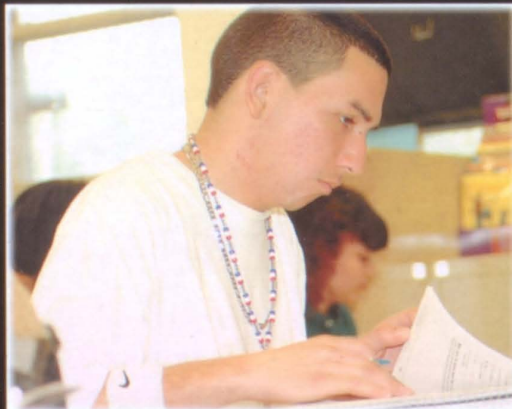

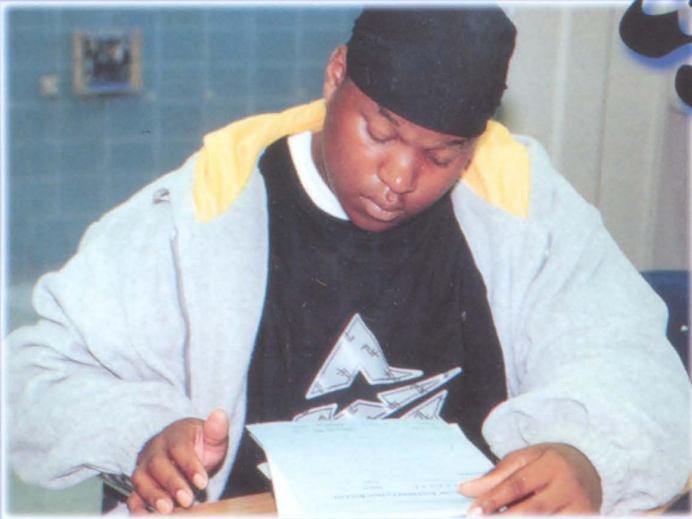

We owe much to our teachers, parents and friends, because they have helped us to experience life. They have also tried very hard to help us get to our goals in life and in school.

HOPE

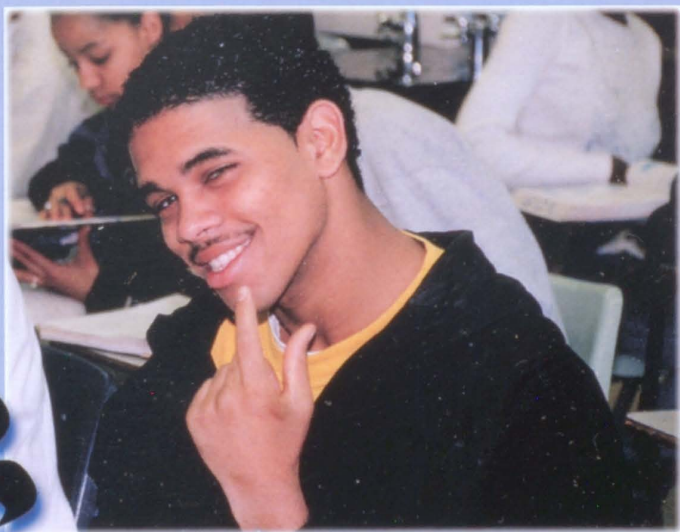

We will never forget those who we will cherish our whole lives, because of what they have taught us. We should try to keep them in our hearts every single day of our lives.

Now that we have graduated from high school, our life as kids, and of playing games, has ended. Now we have to see life in a different perspective. But we shall be successful, because we have had people who care about us, and have guided us along the path of life.

Throughout numerous clubs and activities that we have participated in, we have worked hard to improve our school, and send a positive message to all those who will follow in our footsteps.

We supported in all ways, almost anything and everything our school offers. We should go out to the world with positive thoughts and the same energy. All doors that have been open to us will remain open with boundless opportunities.

Let us now go forth and live our new lives but never forgetting our accomplishments, our hard work and the education Barringer High School has given us.

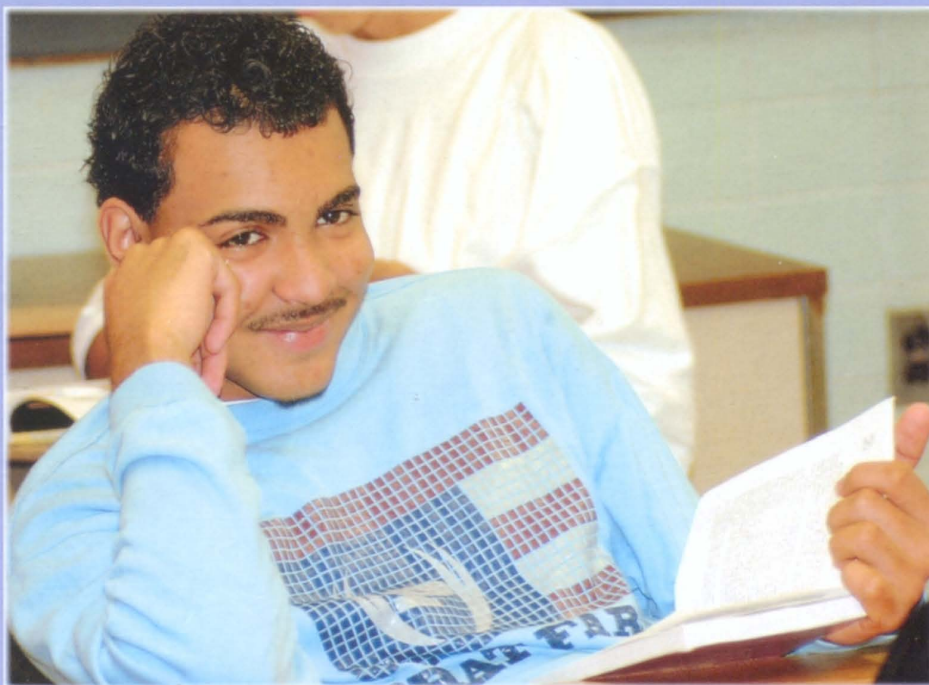

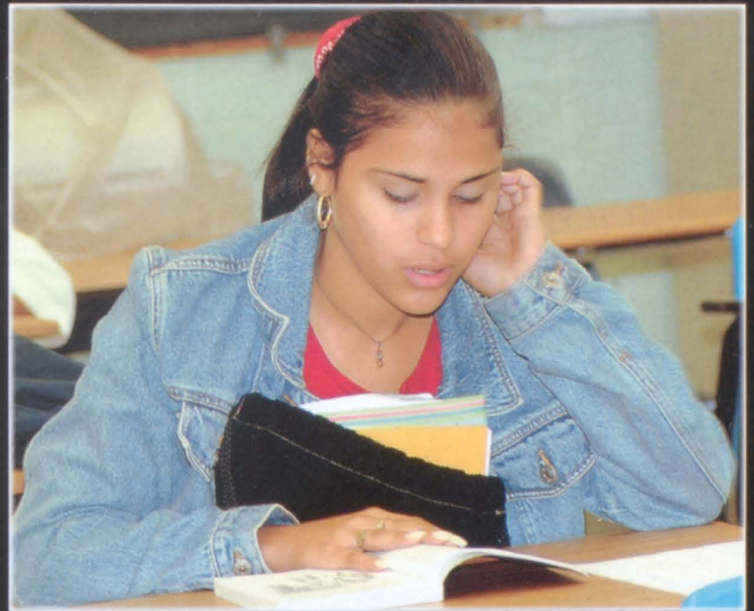

ASPIRATION

Our hard work has paid off. We will go into the world and be able to do bigger and better things. We will make something of ourselves and make our families proud. Many thanks to the teachers at Barringer High School. We take our hats off to you, and applaud your professionalism.

STUDENT LIFE

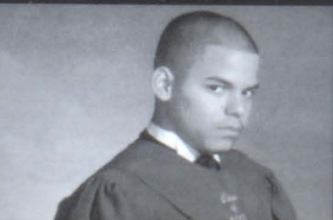

FASHION

It was finally the moment all seniors were waiting for, senior pictures. Everyone flowered-up and wore their best outfits, to look nice for the pictures. They strutted their best gear and made-up their faces the best they could. This is the picture that everyone remembers you by, so you have to look good. Some used the camera or make-up, to do the magic they see in the movies. But in the end it turned out to be a very special and entertaining event. The photo session turned out great, and everyone was delighted about the end product.

ON THIS SPECIAL DAY..... BLUE BEAR PRIDE

A Night to Remember

The Junior Prom.

On this special night, the official gathering of juniors made their way through the wonderful halls of Barringer High, giving the audience a glimpse of what is in store for the Senior Prom of the class 2003. They showed off the latest trend in men and women's fashion. This marvelous night there was no homework to worry about, or staying up late to study for an exam, because this night was the turning point of their lives. And through out the night you heard the whispers, "One more year to go."

The Most Anticipated Night of the Year

The sun was slowly setting as luxurious cars swiftly made their approach through the crowded parking lot at the Manor on the night of May 27, 2003. The most anticipated night was finally here and everyone was extremely happy. Everyone looked handsome and beautiful. The night was so enchanting and wonderful that it made the evening even better. We couldn't ask for another restaurant than the Manor. The place was so gorgeous. Everyone felt like they were in a movie. We've all been waiting for this day since we were in the 8th grade and it was unforgettable. We danced, we laughed, and we cried but most important of all we were together and that's all we needed.

Luz Amador and Yobanny Rodriguez get ready to enter the luxurius Valley Regency.

As they wait for the next dance, Brandon Clark and his date Evelyn Collier, discuss the possible candidates in the running for prom king and queen.

Luz Sanchez, on far right, takes a break from the festivities with two B.H.S. alumnus to view the stylish dresses and tuxedos of the prom-goers.

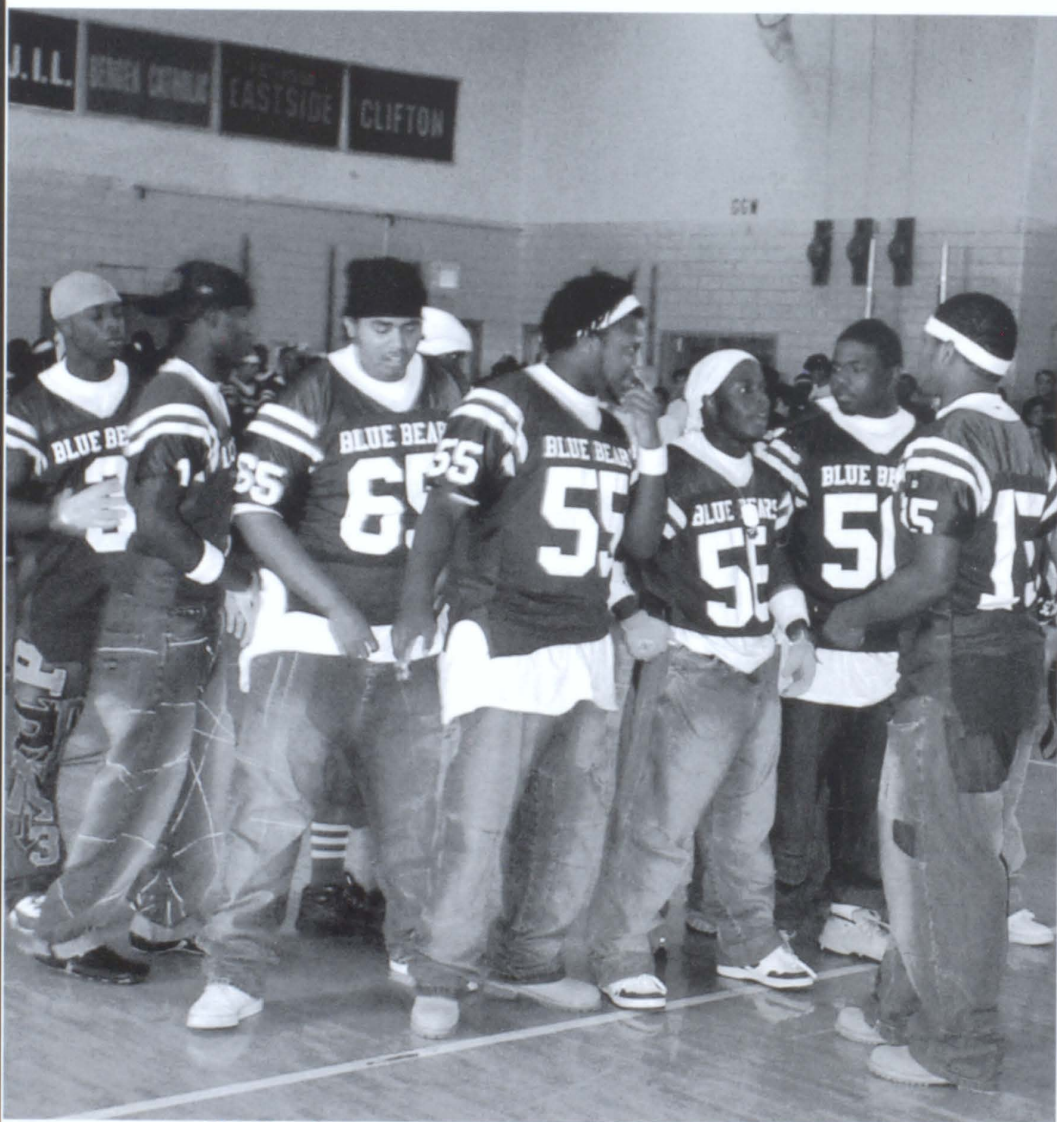

Pep Rally: Bring On the School Spirit

On October 27, 2002, Barringer High School held the first pep rally in many years. The sounds of the instruments gave us all a sense of joy and pride. Our outstanding sports announcer, Mr. Bruce Butts, officially kicked off the event with, "Let's get ready to rumble!"

Our prestigious sport teams were presented to the students, and the athletes were received with loud roars and cheers. The audience demonstrated super Blue Bear pride by the respect they gave all players regardless of the sport they represented. Everyone in the crowd made their presence known. The students in attendance were all pumped up, and the giddiness played out by the crowd was an example of the spirit and emotions spilling out in the school gymnasium.

The players of various sports demonstrated their winning formations and techniques. Like a choir in a large hall, they thundered the gymnasium.

In the end, the sounds of the united voices filled the gym.. thanks to all the sponsors and contributors, the Barringer High School Pep Rally of 2002 will truly be remembered as one of the best to ever be held at Barringer.

There's No Place Like Home Coming

Many years have passed since Barringer High School has had a Homecoming event. On October 19, 2002, Barringer held its first Homecoming march to the School Stadium. T-shirts were given showing the school mascot, the Blue Bear, and the homecoming logo as well. All students wore it with dignity, showing off the great Blue Bear Pride. The parade started off on 90 Parker Street, at the school doors. The band, cheerleaders, student body and faculty – all lined up ready to march. A few Newark politicians also showed up, demonstrating that they care for B.H.S. With the sound of the drum roll, the march was on its way. Newark Police Officials closed the streets and acted as escorts. The neighborhood as well as passer-bys stepped out of their houses/cars, and cheered, showing their pride and confidence in the marching Blue Bears. A shout of victory was screamed by all who attended. The marchers circled the stadium, as if to say, "This is my turf". Needless to say, the game was one of a kind, and the Blue Bears prevailed by a score of 28 to 26. At half time, the Homecoming king and queen were announced. Edwin Cruz and Veronica LaPorte were crowned as queen and king. And runner-ups were also given recognition.

A Salute to You

Good spirits mark him as one who is in control and skilled. His courage stems from dealing with the daily challenges of living with deadlines through humor and understanding.

We acknowledge your spirit of friendship, kindness, hard work, but most of all dedication to the Athenaeum yearbook and commitment to Barringer High School. Thank you, Mr. Sal Di Gerlando, Yearbook Advisor.

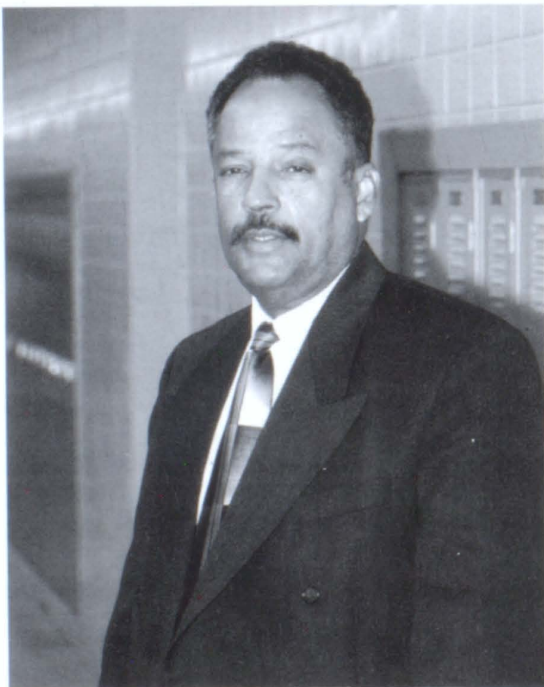

Barringer High School received our new principal in August 2003. Previously, he served as a Vice Principal at Trenton High School and as a member of the executive staff of Rutgers University, New Brunswick, NJ and in the area of community action for ASPIRA, Newark, NJ.

The year was marked with great change and challenge. As our school year progressed we collectively found a great deal of understanding, compromise and progress toward reaching goals. We requested your assistance and you complied. Thank you, Mr. Bonilla. Barringer High is happy to welcome you as our principal.

The Senior Class Activities, Baccalaureate, and Commencement are the products of many hours of planning and labor performed by a small number of dedicated hands and minds. Under her leadership is the hope of the senior class officers and committee that all who read the yearbook will be satisfied that it captured some salient feature or some significant event of the past school year. We would like to thank her for coordinating tremendous efforts to the monumental tasks of raising funds and providing our vision to you for the 2003 yearbook- reflection to you, me and thee. Thank you-Jacqueline Rocker-Brown, Senior Class Advisor, 2003.

Vice Principal, Fields Howard discusses retirement with the senior class committee.

Athenaeum advisor, Sal DiGerlando and Senior Class advisor, Jackie Rocker- Brown.

Over 35 years of dedication to Newark's Students: Fields Howard

Empathy and concern dominate his relationship with students. His self-confidence and inner peace encourages many to attempt the same. He is an example to be emulated; yet his appreciation of the individual sparks others to develop their own person. He has soared to new heights with each passing year of administering, directing and guiding, giving his all and still retaining integrity. The class of 2003 dedicates "Down in History, Up in Pride" to Mr. Fields Howard.

Mr. Howard, where did you attend school?

A. I attended Weequahic high school all four years, then I went on to Kean collage, at that time it was called Newark State, where I received a B.A. in music and theatre. I minored in theater arts. Newark State then changed its name to Kean College, and I received a Masters degree in educational supervision and administration

Q. Why did you go into education?

A. I really want to write. I'm a very good writer. I did my writing right though high school and college, but there was no degree at the time for journalism so I chose music. Then I went into the educational part of it.

Q. Where else have you taught?

A. I have taught at Clinton place junior high for 7 yrs, then went back to my old high school where I taught for 5 years. Then I went to Cleveland and Quitman Street schools. I taught 3 days at one, and two days at another. I did that for about 8 years, then I went to Dr. Horton for 4 years. After that period, I became acting supervisor for music in the city of Newark. I did that for 2 years. That is about the time Mr. O'Neal, called tell me about a job as a vice-principal. He was thinking it was for a grammar school, but it turned out to be for Barringer High School. I was happy that it was a high school. At the time Mr. O'Neil asked me if I can handle it and I said, "Yeah I think so."

Q. What are your hobbies?

A. I have been in a band for over 20 years. It is called the Dave Elgart band. I also love to garden and write. I have not been doing that much writing over the years because of this job and everything else that I do. I took a photo class in college, and so I like to take pictures. I also enjoy raising tropical fish, but I passed that job down to my son.

Q. I asked Mr. Howard if he wants to leave Barringer and education?

A. Jennifer, parts of me does, and part of me does not. I have mixed feelings about leaving. But I also feel as though it is time for me to go. I have put more than enough time in Newark and in the lives of the students I have taught.

Q. What are your plans after your retirement?

A. My plans are to continue my hobbies, and writing is really what I'm looking forward to. I still will sing in the band.

Q. Do you have any kids and what do they think about you leaving us?

A. I have 3 boys, 3 girls, 7 grandchildren and one on the way. My oldest grandchild is 12 years old, and the youngest just turned 3. They feel as though he has worked hard enough and it is time to do other things.

Q. What else would you like to share?

A. I have traveled to California and spent 15 months in Japan where I learned Japanese. I also was in the U.S Marines for three years. I have performed at the Apollo Theater in NY. I also performed in an off Broadway show called "Mama, I Want to Sing".

Mr. Howard is a well-respected man who has many successes to look back on, and many good things to look forward to. He has done his share for us here at Barringer High School, and we will always remember him as one of the most well known individuals in this school.

Mr. Howard sometimes writes his own songs. While he is very interested in his music, working with kids will always be in his heart. We here at Barringer are happy to have had him on our administrative staff.

Mr. Howard, I speak for the student body and staff when I say to you, thank you for all that you have done, and good luck in everything you will continue to do in life.

The End

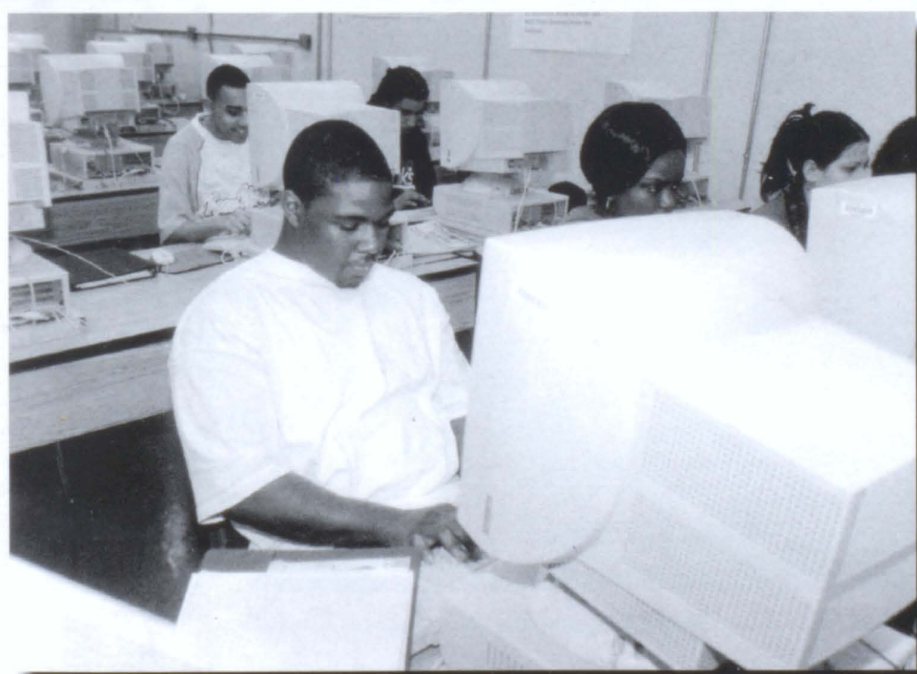

Class of 2003!!

ACTIVITIES

Whatever the childhood game may have been, they all required someone to be a leader, a person who by force of example, talents, or qualities of leadership played a directing role and wielded commanding influence. The Senior Class Committee provides seniors with an opportunity to have a voice in the many decisions the class advisor encounters. The Senior Class Committee is in charge of all senior dues, events, fundraiser, and activities. Their success is accredited to the tireless efforts of class advisor, Mrs. Rocker-Brown.

Athenaeum Yearbook

Hard Work and Persistence Pay Off

Stories, layouts, late nights, deadlines, and most of all endless stress were only a few of the pressures that the yearbook staff faced. Students got involved to create the yearbook for a variety of reasons.

"I got involved because Mr. Di Gerlando suggested that I had creative potential, and the yearbook was a useful outlet," commented Michelle Lugardo. "I've been involved for three years, and I've learned much thanks to Mr. Di Gerlando. I had a lot fun."

Students learned different skills that would help them in their future. "I joined the yearbook committee for a couple of reasons. One, I was able to use computers. Second, my friends were in it and I enjoyed being with them," replied senior Steve Ortiz.

"The Bat Cave", aka the yearbook room, was always full of students., and most of them didn't belong there. But it was fun throwing them out from time to time. We had our share of laughs and disappointments, but at the end when the publication of the yearbook arrived, students were both relived and excited that it was finally done.

We hope the Class of 2003, enjoys this Athenaeum as much as the crew did putting it together. Many late nights and days were put into this big project. But finally it's finished and delivered to your hand.

The Computer Graphics Club is a proud group of individuals who meet to share their visions and ideas. On a regular basis, these creative minds met after school to plan the graphic designs that were envisioned by the group.

As the year unfolded, thanks to the graphics, the Athenaeum evolved into something more. Memories of the senior year are locked into this book for the future. One day, when you decide to look back at your Athenaeum, you will comment, to a family member or friend, "Hey there's my picture when I was a senior at Barringer High." And the graphics that were included in this Athenaeum were created by the All Star Design Crew.

In order to learn more about dramatics, they watch Broadway plays, and participate in tapings of the television show, "Showtime in the Apollo." However, all members are required to perform in the Dinner Theater. The Dinner Theater allows members to show their talents and perform in front of an audience. Chorus

Singing Their Way to the Top

Voices filtered through the auditorium as students harmonized to create a brilliant performance. Whether it was a group performance, or a solo, students found an outlet for creating music. Most students take Chorus as a credit course within the Fine Arts Department. However, all talented students are invited to join Chorus as an extra-curricular activity. The Chorus generally gives performances throughout the school year, and vies in all-city music competitions. A performance typically features a large choral work, often along with other choral or purely instrumental pieces. The Chorus often performs solo or is accompanied by the concert band. It would be difficult to capture the time and effort students dedicate to this art unless you were watching one of their performances. The love of singing was evident in the quality of every show, and it was music to the ears of all who heard.

ARCHIVES

Barringer is the oldest public high school in New Jersey and the third to be established in the U.S. The Archives History Club keeps track of the Barringer historical memorabilia that has been compiled through the years. They also organize and catalog the documents from Barringer High School collected since 1838, the day the school was established.

It's amazing how many incredible items that Mr. Di Gerlando has compiled over the many years that the club has been in existence. The Historical Archives Club collects and stores Barringer High School information that deals with the past. Historic papers, paintings, and other memorabilia are collected and recorded, including old issues of the school newspaper, yearbooks, and other handwritten journals.

It was another wonderful year at Barringer. The Flag Twirlers impressed us once again. This is a group with a large amount of stamina. They go out on the field twirling their flags and supporting the Blue Bears with school spirit. This group is responsible for the presentation of the United States and Barringer flags at the football games. Through their daily practice sessions, they develop new precise-marching techniques to be used at half-time each Saturday during the season. Flag Twirling takes skill, enthusiasm, cooperation, and most of all practice. Working closely as a team gives each member a sense of personal as well as cooperative satisfaction. All the hard working young ladies in this group were chosen by tryouts. The squad helps create color and movement in the marching routines of the Marching Band.

This is a great opportunity for seniors to actually have fun with each other and get to know all other students from the graduating class. This year was no exception.

B.H.S students left at mid-afternoon and came back around midnight. Thanks to the new rides and attractions Six Flags had this year everyone had lots of fun and were able to participate in the different activities that were available. It was a very exciting trip that everyone was looking forward to and everyone had a great time.

FASHION SHOW 2003

SPORTS

As one of the most exciting sports, football is a game that receives much recognition from students and staff. It is a sport that requires much practice and teamwork. This year the football Blue Bear's were driven to succeed. According to their coaches, each player on the squad demonstrated this perseverance. The team was determined to produce a winning season. They ended the season winning more games than any B.H. S. football team has won in many years by strengthening their running game, and finding success with their wide receivers. The team also had a great deal of confidence in their abilities.

Barringer football players all enjoy the following: being focused at games, working hard and practicing for long hours to accomplish a victory; showing pride in their school, and willingness to sacrifice Saturdays to compete with some of the toughest teams in the state. The team should be remembered for their courage and desire to beat all competitors. And above all, they never surrendered.

A Wrestler's Pride

by Coach Bruce Butts

One day my friend asked me, if I would come with him,
That December afternoon, in the corner of the gym.
The school day was over and wrestling practice was about to start,
And I never doubted my pride or strength, my courage nor my heart.
Unusual variations of exercise and intensive circuit training,
Brought out the softer side of many, who were whining and simply complaining.
In a moment the captains ordered, one hundred jumping jacks,
One hundred leg lifts from the chin up bar and neck bridges from our backs.
One hundred pull-ups in a half-hours time,
Three miles of running and in the back of my mind,
Power calisthenics and agility drills,
Exceeded my abilities and most of my skills.
Hundreds of sit ups and push ups, without trace of malice and fun,
The team captains had high expectations, for themselves and everyone.
Arm rotations, windmills and four count body bends,
Were no longer simply exercises but ways to purge our sins,

This was not the sport I chose, but what I did for a friend,
And it was more,
Than what I was prepared for,
And I couldn't wait for practice to end.
Just before we showered, a team captain insulted my pride,
Awakening the dog within my soul, unleashing the beast inside.
I knew I was a freshman, a scrub and clumsy to,
But a punk was something I could never become, impossible for me to do.
So this began a four-year commitment,
Without excuses and without resentment.
Each of you has the power, to shape and improve your skill,
Each of you has the ability, to fashion and shape your will.
Physically, you must prepare to improve and grow,
Ready to struggle to learn more than you know.
Intelligently forming dreams and aspirations,
Delivering solutions by your very participation.
The energy of others will help you decide,
To honor, the light of truth within and displaying that Blue Bear pride

A NATION AT WAR!

It all began on March 17th, 2003, when a coalition, led by The United States and Great Britain, moved artillery, armored battle equipment and foot soldiers into Iraq. The Coalition eventually changed the Iraqi regime, removed Saddam as leader, and attempted to establish a democratic foothold in the Mid-East. The coalition accomplished their task of deposing this dreaded and sadistic dictator. Now the rebuilding begins. Only time will tell if the long term objective of this mission is accomplished.

Alma Mater

Over many a city old,
 Famed in song and story.
 Temple grey and castle hold
 Catch the sunset glory.
 So our Alma Mater proud
 Looks over vale and meadow
 High between the sailing cloud
 And it's drifting shadow.
 For her colors, first the blue
 Of the April valley;
 Then December's wintery hue
 When the storm winds rally.
 Newark High, thy fame we raise,
 Many voices blending;
 Through the years
 We pledge thee praise.
 Loyal to life's ending.

Junius W. Stevens, 1924

When we entered high school together, as freshmen, our fear of being a newcomer united us together once more. It was high school and the dangers of being freshmen allowed us to bond and develop close friendships. When troubled by our individual problems, we found support in our class.

Amongst our individual successes, the class of 2003 has three major victories. Finding who we are and establishing an identity was our first victory. Another victory was bonding with strangers, all working toward a common cause, our final victory in high school is to graduate and start our journey of life.

By getting involved in school and community affairs, we have stayed close and dared to revolutionize the outside world.

Events of the outside world have greatly affected the lives of the graduating class. Surviving and learning in these environments have made us stronger and wiser towards life's imminent challenges and surprising twists.

Seeing the world through the eyes of our mentors, we prepared for the outside and adopted a philosophy to live by.

Life at Barringer has come to an end. But these changes will only help us realize that the hard work that we made has paid off and now we shall show the world our lessons about life, inherited from our high school experience.

Let us not forget the past, which is a precious treasure, always reminding us of our joys, triumphs, and struggles experienced on our quest for an understanding of ourselves and assertion of future endeavors...
